In Brief
$410 Million For
Penna. Highways

HARRISBURG (AP) — The "greatest construction and maintenance program in state history" was envisioned by Gov. Lawrence in his budget message Tuesday for Pennsylvania's highway system.

Under his proposals handed to the 146th General Assembly, some $410 million would be allocated to highways from the 1962-63 motor license fund. The motor license budget, which does not require legislative approval, is $34,128,940 higher than the one expiring next June 30.

Ninety-six million dollars would be used for interstate roads. Of this total, the state would pay $87 million and the federal government $37.3 million under the federal aid acts of 1956 and 1958 calling for the federal government to finance 90 per cent of all interstate roads and the state the other 10 per cent.

Uphold Costello
Deportation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Board of Immigration Appeals upheld Tuesday a deportation order against Frank Costello, New York underworld figure, for his conviction on income tax charges.

Costello, 70, had appealed to the board from a special inquiry officer's order last June 21 that he be deported to Italy.

He had been serving a five-year sentence for income tax evasion before his release last June, when he was required to register as an alien in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

Youth Fined In Radar Charge

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Vernon D. Young, Bethlehem, Route 4, pleaded guilty in Lehigh County Court Tuesday to resisting arrest for interfering with a state police radar team and was fined $200 and costs.

Young was arrested for speeding on Route 191 by a radar team last Nov. 1 near Bethlehem. Then, it was testified, he pulled up behind it, placed his car's headlights on it and began pumping his brakes to warn passing motorists of the radar's location. State police moved to another location on Route 309 and Young followed, they testified.

TURLOCK, Calif. (AP) — Sharon Silfert, 14, dragged her grandmother and a brother from a flaming home Tuesday but was unable to save two younger sisters.

Kitty, 10, and Sandra, 13, died in the back bedroom of Edna Cole's home near Hilmar. Mrs. Cole, 53, and Robert Silfert, 6, were badly burned and reported in critical condition at Turlock Hospital.

Sharon escaped burns but suffered severe shock. The parents of the Silfert children were out of town picking up a load of furniture.

Czechs Release
U. S. Citizen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Czechoslovakia has released Forrest Avery Shaver, an American citizen, after holding him in prison for nearly 18 months, the State Department reported Tuesday.

His release Dec. 30 was effected about 2½ months before he had completed a 20-month sentence imposed for "illegal border crossing." Shaver, a welder who formerly lived in Chicago, was arrested in July 1960.

The State Department said he is now in West Germany and is in "apparent good health."

Crippled Ship
Safely In Tow

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A crippled freighter in the Gulf of Mexico, reportedly "riding well at sea and in no danger of sinking," was reached by a Coast Guard cutter Tuesday about 300 miles southeast of New Orleans.

The Coast Guard sent the cutter Sebago from Mobile, Ala., to tow the Catalina S into Key West, Fla.

The 300-foot, 2,407-ton Catalina S radiomed Monday it had lost power with flooding in the engine room. The ship was on its first voyage after a year of inactivity in New Orleans. It was bound for the Bahamas with a load of general cargo. It had a 24-man crew.

Bing Crosby Is Hospitalized

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Big Crosby entered St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica Monday night for what the hospital called "a routine examination."

Crosby was hospitalized in San Francisco Dec. 22 with a kidney ailment.

He returned to Los Angeles the next day and has been under doctors' care since, a family spokesman said.

JFK Confers With Advisors
On Military Outlook For '62

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy began two days of conferences Tuesday with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and key military advisers on Army organization problems and the U.S. military outlook for 1962.

Johnson flew in from Texas. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Deputy Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Kennedy's personal military adviser, came from Washington.

Will Visit Mexico
It was announced Tuesday night that Kennedy has accepted an invitation from President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico to visit that country in 1962. No date for the visit has been set, but it is expected to take place in the first half of the year.

No decision has been made as to whether Mrs. Kennedy will accompany her husband. Johnson said upon his arrival that he expects the talks here to include a review of the military budget and other matters.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger earlier characterized the late afternoon session as a preliminary survey of Army organization problems.

Report Expected
McNamara said these problems have been under study for some time and that a report on this would be made to the President.

The defense secretary also said there has been no change in the policy regarding reservists who have been called up. They will not be held longer than necessary, McNamara said.

He added that the Reserves are playing an important part in showing the strength of purpose of the nation.

Johnson predicted Kennedy will be generally successful with his program in the session of Congress opening Jan. 10.

He told newsmen who met him at West Palm Beach International Airport that in his 30 years in Congress he had never worked with a president "who commanded more respect or more confidence from Congress" than Kennedy.

Cites Cooperation
Johnson termed the relations between the President and Congress during the past year as "constructive, productive and harmonious."

He forecast this would continue in 1962.

Salinger declined to elaborate beforehand on what the session would cover. But the role of Reserves and the National Guard in future emergencies presumably was among the topics high on the agenda.

The meeting, Salinger said, will deal with "the operational and strategic outlook for 1962."

Salinger did say that the conferences are not directly related to the new defense budget or to the question of whether the United States should resume nuclear testing in the atmosphere.

This indicated the discussions at the mansion of Col. and Mrs. C. Michael Paul, the temporary White House, would primarily focus on U.S. capacity to counter threats to free world security anywhere in the world.

Plans Made To Drill For Natural Gas In Monroe Co.

THE FIRST drilling for natural gas in the history of Monroe County will begin in Barrett Township as soon as a rig capable of reaching 14,000 feet is installed.

The property is located in the Spruce Mountain area of Barrett Township and is owned by A. M. Price and Dr. Nina Price of East Stroudsburg.

The operation is in charge of Farmers Gas and Oil, Inc., 303 Market St., Kingston. Drilling contractor is Natural Gas Drillers, Inc. Cost of the operation is expected to be in the neighborhood of $100,000.

A Location of the well was selected by Dr. W. C. Difford, professor of geology at Dickinson College. A former assistant geologist for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, he first became interested in the Pocono area at that time.

At a recent dinner in Mt. Airy Lodge, Dr. Difford said that it was difficult to locate anticlinal structures in this area because they are buried deep in the Catskill formation.

He said there are six such structures of major importance, mapped some years ago by the Pennsylvania Geological Survey. Difford said he believes there are many other smaller structures throughout the county which are well covered.

Farmers Gas and Oil, Inc., has been a pioneer in the search for natural gas in the northeastern Pennsylvania and has been active in drilling since 1955. The firm is now drilling three wells, including one near Wilkes-Barre.

Pooling System

The company is operating on a pooling system with four of the pools established in Monroe County, each consisting of approximately 5,000 acres of land.

The first of the pools will be known as Spruce Mountain Pool, A. M. Price Well No. 1. About 50 land owners will participate in the Spruce Mountain Pool, according to the terms of the five-year lease. In the event of production, they will receive one-eighth of the entire output on a pro-rata basis according to the number of acres each land owner has in the pool.

Thomas Beamesderfer, treasurer of Farmers Gas and Oil, said it is believed possible to have more than 50 wells in this pool.

Investors who pay for the drilling of wells will receive 64 percent of the value of the gas and/or oil, also on a pro-rata basis.

Gas Trailer
Causes Alert
At Daleville

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — Emergency crews worked into the night Tuesday night pumping propane gas from an overturned tank trailer on route 611 in nearby Daleville.

State police of the Daleville barracks patrolled the area, halting traffic and all other movement while a danger of explosion persisted.

Earlier 25 families were evacuated and electrical power to homes in the area shut off after the trailer broke loose from the tractor towing it, struck a utility pole and overturned.

Emergency crews of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. and other utilities started the delicate job of transferring the fuel gas shortly before dark.

Talks Opened; Seek Berlin Negotiations

MOSCOW (AP) — American and Soviet diplomats began a new attempt Tuesday to find a mutually satisfactory basis for East-West negotiations on Berlin. The record of past attempts suggests it will be a tough job, but the Russians appear eager for negotiations.

U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, the West's spokesman at this stage, and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko conferred for 2½ hours at the Foreign Ministry, a spired skyscraper on Smolensk Square.

No Comment

Neither would comment later, but both seemed in good spirits. Emerging in a snowstorm, Thompson smiled and his manner was cheerful. He declined to tell newsmen how the meeting went. He said, however, he plans to see Gromyko again—he doesn't know exactly when—and he doesn't expect these preliminary meetings to last long.

If a profitable foundation is found for formal talks promising to safeguard Western rights in Communist-ruled West Berlin, a foreign ministers' conference is expected to be called to take up the city's future.

Gromyko was in an affable though uncommunicative mood in chatting with Western reporters. He was asked about it at a Cuban Embassy reception marking the third anniversary of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's revolutionary victory.

Thompson advised the U.S. State Department in Washington of the results of his talk. Then he filled in the ambassadors of Britain, France and West Germany by telephone. He invited them to a conference Wednesday at the U.S. Embassy.

Specialist Sits In

Thompson was accompanied to the meeting by Kempton Jenkins, a specialist in German affairs who is the embassy's second secretary. Sitting in with Gromyko was Ivan I. Ilyichev, a Soviet Foreign Ministry official who was formerly ambassador to East Germany.

Thompson's assignment to sound out the Soviets was agreed upon at a meeting of Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the British, French and West German foreign ministers in Paris Dec. 12.

The decision was later approved by the ministerial council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and by President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at their Bermuda meeting.

Urges Careful Review; Asks End Of Session By March 1

HARRISBURG (AP) — Record spending plans—minus any painful tax recommendations in an election year — were laid before the new legislature Tuesday in the Lawrence Administration's final budget documents.

The 72-year-old governor, beginning the final year of his four-year term in office, appeared before a joint assembly of House and Senate to outline budget recommendations for the 1962-63 fiscal year. Proposed general fund expenditures total $1,008,857,457.

There was a mild boo or two from among the legislators when the governor was introduced but the sound was quickly drowned out by applause. There was a long ovation from Democrats when Lawrence concluded his 29-minute speech.

Lawrence noted with pride that he was setting a precedent by presenting the budget on the legislature's opening day, and that the deficit he inherited at the start of his administration had been wiped out.

He estimated a final surplus of $8.9 million for the fiscal year-end June 30. He added: "That surplus, when added to estimated revenues for the 1962-63 fiscal year, permits us to balance the budget for that period also."

Recalls '59 Budget
"I cannot help but recall my first appearance as governor before the general assembly, 34 months ago today, when I submitted the budget for the 1959-61 biennium. At that time, I had the unpleasant duty to report a deficit of over $177 million, which had accumulated over the previous decade. That deficit has now been wiped out and, for the first time in recent history, Pennsylvania's budget is in balance—honest balance."

The governor said the budget he was offering had not been brought into balance by striking out existing programs or resisting needed improvements.

For instance, he explained that appropriations for the 14 state colleges, for Pennsylvania State University, and the state-aided colleges and universities "are more than twice the appropriations of a decade ago."

Lawrence conceded to the legislature the "right and the obligation to review the budget documents with searching scrutiny," but he suggested there was no reason why this couldn't be done promptly and the assembly complete its work by March 1.

Summing up, the governor said the general and special fund budgets had much to commend them. He said: "First, they are balanced . . . Secondly, they are balanced without the need for any additional taxes . . . Third, they provide funds to carry forward programs which are the state's obligation and, in many instances, to improve upon those programs within the framework of previous legislative authorization."

Lawmakers in the Senate got into a brief skirmish over the most critical political problem that may face them in the coming weeks — congressional reapportionment.

Gov. Lawrence is expected to call a special session of the legislature to consider the problem.

The lawmakers must act on the situation by Feb. 20 or face the prospect of electing all of the state's congressmen on an at-large basis.

Dutch Offer Negotiation On New Guinea With Indonesia

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — Negotiation without prior conditions was offered by the Dutch government Tuesday as a means of settling the dispute with Indonesia over the 159,000 square miles of New Guinea jungle and mountain.

Sukarno set no D-Day, however. Reports from Jakarta have said Indonesia's military men are opposed to an invasion until late in the year when they hope their amphibious forces will be built up with ships and planes from Communist arsenals.

De Quay's announcement was welcomed in Washington and London.

U. S. To Fly 6,000 Troops To Germany For Training

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will test its capability to reinforce rapidly NATO's defenses by flying 6,000 battle-ready troops to Germany in mid-January for training, the Pentagon announced Tuesday.

The troops will include three battle groups of the 4th Infantry Division, a regular outfit stationed at Ft. Lewis, Wash., along with their artillery, tanks and other support units.

The huge airlift across the Atlantic will be part of a NATO training exercise called Long Thrust II, which will continue in Germany from Jan. 16 to Feb. 12.

However, the Defense Department said two of the battle groups will remain in Germany temporarily afterward for additional training.

The announcement added that other battle groups from the 4th "may be moved from time to time to Europe to participate in NATO exercises and remain afterward for further training." This, it added, would provide for rotation of units.

The Pentagon announcement did not connect the exercise with the simmering Berlin crisis, which has prompted the sending of 45,000 U.S. military men to Europe in recent months — raising U.S. strength there to about 300,000.

The troops to leave in about two weeks will be flown across the Atlantic in about 100 transport planes.

Highlights Of The Budget

HARRISBURG (AP) — The 12-month annual budget Gov. Lawrence handed to the new legislature Tuesday proposes record general fund expenditures of $1,008,857,457, but with no recommendations of new taxes.

The 1962-63 budget is up $19 million over the spending for the 1961-62 fiscal period ending next June 30.

Here are some other highlights of the budget documents:

Estimated revenues of $992 million are based on the assumption that consumer spending will increase by 7 per cent and that corporate profits will increase by 12.5 per cent for the 1962-63 period. The two areas are the principal sources of state revenues— the 4 per cent sales tax and the 2 per cent levy on corporate net income.

The 1962-63 budget will be on a 12-month basis whereas the 1961-62 budget is on a 13-month basis as the state changes its fiscal calendar to start July 1 rather than June 1.

The new budget anticipates an $8.9 million surplus left from the present budget. This will be used to balance the new budget.

The administration said that 1,974 new employees would be needed in the Public Welfare Department for expanded services, including 1,683 to staff Haverford State Hospital, Eastern State School and Hospital and the Western State School and Hospital. Another 100 jobs would be an increase in the state police force to 2,100 men.

The appropriation to promote tourism in Pennsylvania would be raised $175,000 to $375,000.

Six more state parks are to be opened: At Bear Creek, East Branch Clarion River Reservoir, Logan Estate in Bucks County, Prince Gallitzin in Cambria County, Prompton in Pike-Wayne Counties and Ryerson Station in Greene County.

Year-End Statement

Bell Will Spend $324,765 In Area

By W. D. Gillen, President, The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania

THE BELL Telephone Company of Pennsylvania during 1962 will invest $119,037,000 in construction, or $472,000 for each business day of the year, to provide the quantity and quality of service needed throughout the territory it serves.

Construction expenditures of this magnitude, necessitated by a growing population and expanding economy, are not new to this company. This will be the seventh consecutive year that these outlays will have exceeded $100 million. During 1961, they totaled $124,260,000.

Of the $230,000 estimated for construction in the Stroudsburg District during 1962, $324,765 will be expended in Stroudsburg and the surrounding exchanges of Bushkill, Cresco, Delaware Water Gap and Mt. Pocono.

To meet the needs of Bell customers in Pennsylvania we added 125,200 new telephones during the year, bringing the number of telephones in service in the company's territory to 4,428,000 at year's end, a growth rate of 2.9 percent compared with a growth rate of 3.9 percent in 1960.

Two-thirds of this growth was achieved in the last half of the year. The recession of general business activity earlier in the year slowed the growth rate and resulted in a smaller gain in telephones than in 1960.

We expect the present rising trend in business conditions to continue during the year ahead. As a result, telephone growth should increase in 1962, still falling short, however, of growth recorded in 1960.

19,110,000 Calls Estimated
Present indications are that customers served by the Bell Company will make more than 19,110,000 calls a day during the coming year, an increase of 560,000 over the 1961 daily average.

Direct Distance Dialing by customers, now available on 80 percent of the company's main telephones, by the end of the year will be possible on 88 percent of them.

Among the other projects designed to expand and improve service to our customers provided by the year's construction expenditures are the completion of 12 new buildings and additions to eight existing buildings. The company's new headquarters in Philadelphia is scheduled for completion and occupancy late in the year.

Our contribution to the state's economy continues to grow. In 1961 our payroll was $187 million. Bell System purchases of materials and supplies from Pennsylvania firms alone totaled $130 million during the year, including $50 million bought by the Bell Company and $80 million by the Western Electric Company, manufacturing and supply unit of the System.

$317 Million
The combined impact of all these expenditures totaled $317 million, providing an economic stimulus to almost every community throughout the state.

During 1962, the company's dollar contribution to Pennsylvania's economy is expected to be even greater, an estimated $325 million.

The continuing ability of any business to contribute to the prosperity of its state on this scale is of vital interest to the people we serve. The orderly and economic planning represented by our construction program, for example, is possible only if earnings are adequate.

Intensive marketing of our services and equally intensive attention to efficiencies made possible through new inventions and new methods have kept the cost of telephone service in Pennsylvania down to reasonable levels.

But any business must earn a fair profit if it is to raise the capital needed to grow, improve its service, employ more people and pay good wages. It must have adequate profits to pay for the research and development which control costs and keep prices reasonable.

Business is just as responsible as government for doing its part to improve the economic and social welfare of our people, but in order to do so must be permitted the freedom and the incentive to drive ahead.

Dear Abby

Silence Reigns!

Dear Abby: We would like your opinion on a subject that has caused a lot of discussion around our office. One of the men who works here claims that in the 29 years he has been married he has never had a fight with his wife. He says she has never argued with him, questioned him or disagreed with him. Furthermore, he claims he has never heard her raise her voice. Is this possible?

CAN'T BELIEVE IT

Dear Abby: It's possible, but most unlikely. Perhaps there is something wrong with his hearing.

Dear Abby: My daughter is a very mature eleven-year-old. About a week ago she started wearing an identification bracelet a boy at school gave her. In her crowd it means she is "going steady."

This afternoon I got a phone call from the boy's mother. (I have never met her.) She said she was terribly upset to learn that her son had given my daughter his I.D. bracelet and she wanted my daughter to return it. She said the bracelet was a "good" one, and a birthday gift, and she didn't want anything to happen to it. I told her that my daughter did not STEAL it, it was given to her and furthermore, I did not run my daughter's life and I hung up on her. Did I do right?

SORRY NOW

Dear Abby: You should be. No eleven-year-old is old enough to "run her own life." Tell your daughter to return the bracelet, and the sooner the better.

Dear Abby: My grandfather, who has been ill for quite some time, is expected to die at any moment. Is it necessary to have my grandmother's relatives to the funeral? If they do attend, is it necessary to have them sit in the pews reserved for relatives?

They are such rough and ignorant people it would embarrass us to have them sitting with the relatives of my grandfather. In other words, the whole family is ashamed of them. However, we will do what is right.

JUST WONDERING

Dear Abby: A funeral is not a "party" that one attends by invitation only. Your grandmother's relatives have a right to attend, and to sit in the pews reserved for relatives.

Confidential To "Loved And Lost": Your letter reminds me of an old Chinese story: "One tear met another tear floating down the river. The first tear said, 'I am the tear of a woman who lost her lover.' The other tear said, 'I am the tear of the woman who got him.'"

Bangor Council Reorganizes

BANGOR — Walter J. Warrick, veteran second ward Republican councilman was elected president of the Bangor Borough Council at the initial session of that body last night in the borough hall.

Warrick succeeded Rex Erdman, Democrat. In the post as the Republican-controlled council voted party lines and named Warrick by a 9 to 3 vote.

Erdman was nominated for the post in opposition to Warrick.

Mayor Quintus LaBar acted as the chairman pro tem at the reorganization. John Cascoli nominated Warrick and William Holland placed Erdman in nomination.

Three other party line votes were cast for offices when Sherwood Evans was elected borough treasurer over Charles R. Steimetz 9-3; Clarence Beck was named plumbing inspector by the same vote defeating Arlington Houck and Ralph Houck was named to a new five-year term on the Sewer Authority by a 9-3 vote over John Linaberry.

No opposition was noted in the election of J. Lawrence Davis as borough solicitor; David O. Pritchard as borough engineer; and Joseph Miller as street supervisor.

Special police elected included Pasquale Vicario, Chris Schlemmer, Frederick Jones and Sherwood Holland.

Council created a new post that of assistant borough secretary to supervise the business relative to the sewer system.

Raymond A. Traves, Bangor accountant was named to the post at a salary of $100 per month. Others nominated were William Dillman, and Chester Kauffman.

Traves received nine votes, Dillman two and Kauffman one.

William J. Sleeman, veteran borough secretary was reelected to serve in that capacity without opposition. Sleeman will be serving his 58th year as secretary to the Bangor borough. He is oldest active borough secretary in the state of Pennsylvania.

Prior to the meeting, Mayor LaBar administered the oath of office to the following elected council members: John Cascoli, Gilmore Strunk, Merlin Tucker, Miles Heller, and Troy Reigel, all Republicans, and Rex Erdman, Democrat.

Endorsement in the business session was given to the proposed bus lines that will operate through the borough from Matamoras, N. Y. to Allentown.

Mayor LaBar and councilman Heller plan to attend a meeting relative to bus lines in Stroudsburg today.

The council planned a budgetary meeting for Jan. 22 and a regular meeting for Feb. 5.

Wiggins Reelected Head Of Council In Eastburg

HAROLD A. Wiggins was reelected president of East Stroudsburg Borough Council during reorganization meeting last night.

Mrs. Ann M. Travis, the only woman member of the Council, was elected vice president.

Recognition Set For Scout Area

POCONO District, Boy Scouts of America, which covers Monroe County, will receive national recognition as a pace maker during 1961, a spokesman for the Delaware Valley Council announced yesterday.

Minimum requirements for such recognition are an increase of 80 boys and four Scout units during the year.

Current membership of the district includes 11 packs with 378 Cubs, 16 troops with 396 Scouts and seven Explorer posts with 90 members.

The 34 units represent an increase of four over 1960 and the 964 boys participating represent an increase of 81 from the previous year.

In addition, there are 355 adults registered in Monroe County, bringing the overall membership to 1,219 persons.

Atty. John J. Pentz, Jr., district chairman; Victor Hoehne, district commissioner; Dr. Bruce Dunap, district organization and extension chairman, and William T. Vincent, district executive, will be recognized for their achievements at the annual planning conference of the Delaware Valley Council to be held at the Inn, Buck Hill Falls, in March.

Runaways Nabbed Stealing Gas

FOUR teen-agers from Rhode Island were arrested by State Police of the Stroudsburg barracks last night after they attempted to steal gasoline from a Hamilton Township home.

Police said they are runaways.

Troopers took the four to juvenile quarters of Monroe County Jail where they will be held until investigating officers confer today with Dist. Atty. James R. Marsh.

Troopers said the four—two 15-year-olds, a 14-year-old and Sterling Cramer is borough secretary.

Mayor Thomas Kistler swore in the new members.

Other borough officials appointed were William J. Wallie, as borough auditor; Pearley Hunt, representative to Mid-Eastern Counties Assn. of Boroughs; William Schnaitman as an alternate; and Kenneth Wiley as representative to the Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg, Stroud Township Control Center.

During the regular meeting of the council which followed the swearing-in ceremonies, the members rejected an offer to purchase land located at Lincoln Ave. The land, which measures 148 feet x 149 feet, was from the Shari Estates. No price was mentioned.

The council felt that they had no use for the land. The site is near the borough's pumping station.

The council authorized the borough solicitor to contact the Pennsylvania Utilities Commission to determine whether more transportation can be provided in area.

Al Hertz, owner of public transportation service, told the group the transportation in all sections of state is controlled by PUC, and that the commission alone can decide whether the present conveyances are adequate.

He suggested that council study a proposed interborough bus transportation service for the residents.

The present service was termed very inadequate and that more service on streets is vitally needed.

Hertz suggested that a bus could run every hour on the hour between the boroughs and provide sufficient transportation.

He said, however, only after proof of need and necessity to PUC can such a system be inaugurated.

Drill Tonight

THE LAMBERT Hawks will rehearse tonight at 7:15 at the VFW Post Home. Anyone wishing to join the group may report at the same time.

a 16-year-old—were surprised while attempting to steal gas from the property of Russell Possinger.

They fled in a car belonging to one of the boy's mother, ran into a dead end lane on the property of Gail Rutt, hit a small tree and skidded to a halt.

They fled on foot, but one returned to the car and was apprehended there. The other three were picked up later in Stroudsburg.

Troopers said the four are from the North Kingston, R. I. area.

We have at least one design in good taste to fit every preference, every budget and every cemetery situation on hand.

Kovarick Elected President Of S-Burg Borough Council

JOSEPH W. Kovarik of the Fourth Ward was unanimously elected president of Stroudsburg Borough Council at its reorganizational meeting last night.

Robert L. Weichel of the Second Ward, appointed to council last month to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Edward R. Lawson, was elected vice president, also unanimously.

Kovarick succeeds J. Albert Groner, who was elected president pro tempore of council following Lawson's resignation as president and member of council because he is moving from the borough.

Mayor Joseph H. Small swore in three new councilmen—Howard E. Altemus, John R. Hauser and Stephen Sackley. Weichel took his oath of office from former Mayor Edward A. Doran at a special meeting last month.

Small, in a prepared statement read after he administered the oath to the three new councilmen, said his greatest concern is "that this council run smoothly."

He urged the members to forget politics and work together for the betterment of the borough. He said that as head of the police department he promises the "most efficient and most courteous" force possible and indicated that he will ask for a pay raise for the force by saying he hopes it is also the best paid.

In other action, Council:

Set the regular meeting time as the first Wednesday of each month at 7:30 p.m.

Fixed the amount of bonds at $6,000 for James A. Somers, borough treasurer; $5,000 for Harold E. Snyder, borough manager, and $1,000 for George T. Robinson, borough solicitor.

Named First-Stroudsburg National Bank as depository for the borough's regular account and Monroe Security Bank and Trust Co. as depository for sewer account funds.

Named Snyder as delegate and Kovarik as alternate delegate to the executive committee of the Mid-Eastern Counties Assn. of Boroughs.

Reappointed Millard A. Marsh to a five-year term on the Stroudsburg Municipal Authority and continued the salary of members of the board at $20 a month.

Accepted a recommendation of the board of health and reappointed Mrs. Arlene Curtis to a five-year term. The board, anticipating the council action, previously elected Mrs. Curtis its president for this year.

Appointed Hauser to a six-year term on the Police Civil Service Commission to replace Lawson.

NATO Convention

The New Year will be just a week old when one of the most promising international conferences ever held gets underway in Paris. It is not overstating the case to say that the future of the free world can be vitally affected by the recommendations of the Atlantic Convention of NATO Nations which begins its two week deliberations on the 8th of January.

The unique gathering of 98 of the most outstanding citizens of the Atlantic Community—not government officials, not men and women working under government instructions—brings together private citizens selected by the legislatures of the 15 NATO countries to act as individuals in exploring ways and means of achieving greater cooperation and unity of purpose through economic and political means. The convention will examine exhaustively the furthering of democratic freedom and it is hoped that the result will provide bold and imaginative proposals. While the recommendations made by this body will not be binding on the respective governments, they undoubtedly will carry great weight due to the exceptionally high calibre of the participants.

Because of the outstanding qualifications of the citizens appointed to each nation's commission—former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and former Under Secretary of State William L. Clayton are co-chairmen of the bi-partisan U. S. Citizens Commission on NATO—and because sufficient time is being provided at this convention to permit study in depth of fundamental problems, a realistic potential exists for this international conference to bring forth a meaningful contribution.

Implicit in the concept and development of NATO, established nearly 13 years ago, is the principle of common defense. The keynote of this significant alliance, particularly with respect to effective negotiation with opponents, may be said to be "peace through strength." To support and maintain this posture in all its aspects—economic and political, as well as military—let us wish success to the efforts of the 98 citizen-statesmen as they sit down together to help advance the freedom and unity of purpose which were envisioned in the original treaty and which are vital today to the preservation of the Atlantic Community, and indeed to freedom itself.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Indictment Of 'Non-Skeds'

U. S. Rep. Francis E. Walter's investigation of the non-scheduled airlines has been concluded with a serious indictment of the Civil Aeronautics Board. Lobby machinations, CAB laxity and the non-skeds operators' irresponsibility have engendered "shocking" conditions, according to Walter's survey, which was prompted by the recent Imperial Airlines crash in Virginia, fatal to 77, including 29 Lehigh Valley military recruits.

Certainly many of these circumstances have been evident for a long time. Rep. Walter criticizes the CAB for interminable delays in corrective and punitive action against slipshod and hazardous non-sked operations. But one might also suggest that it's high time that the Congress awakened to the problem and did something about it.

There is, in addition to the critical safety hazards posed by irresponsible operation and lax enforcement policies, another form of injury to the public—economic injury. Just a few days ago the Federal Aviation Agency approved the scheduled airlines' petition for increased domestic fare rates.

The major airlines, forced to spend vast sums of money to meet performance standards required by law, are compelled to tap the public for new revenue to maintain solvency, while the non-skeds, with third-rate fitness standards which aren't even enforced adequately, bleed off passenger and freight traffic.

It'll be most interesting to see whether the Congress takes hold of its responsibility in this problem, to force adherence to the intent of the laws it has made regulating the airlines.

Life Can Be Simple

Carlyle Hall of Springfield, Illinois, has a solution to the political, social and economic problems of mankind. All the world's statesmen have not hit on his formula but to him it comes easily. This is what he says:

"Tell me why all civilized nations now members of the United Nations, could not get together, and agree on one universal language, and require this to be taught in all their schools. In addition to their native language, to enable the rising generation within a few years in all nations to intelligently converse with one another.

"If through the United Nations this could be brought about, along with other things that they do, I believe it would be the most outstanding thing that the world has ever seen.

"This to me seems so simple and so important, can you tell me why it is not attempted, and worked out?"

Years ago, a colonel about to retire from the American Army in the Philippines came up to Shanghai to propose a solution to all the problems that faced the Chinese. He said that the Chinese had nearly 100 dialects which kept the Chinese in confusion because they could not talk to each other.

Why, he asked, did they not drop Chinese and make English their language? I asked why not drop English and adopt Chinese as our language? Also, why English and not French or Russian?

That only annoyed him. He had undoubtedly spent years thinking out this problem. It never occurred to him that if all the Chinese became dumb and could not speak to each other at all, maybe they would have no problems.

This generation has forgotten Dr. Zamenhof who came from Warsaw and gave the world Esperanto. He invented a new language. If the 2,000,000,000 human beings on Earth spoke to each other in Esperanto, they would understand each other better.

But it has turned out that the better we understand each other, the less we like each other. It used to be that nobody understood the hundred or so dialects of India, most of them being local corruptions of Sanskrit. But now that the Indians have come to the United Nations and can hear all kinds of languages they not only want to quarrel with each other but with all the world.

Or look at China which has more languages than any nation on Earth, and for thousands of years the various races of China got along well enough together, having little wars but none of them amounting to too much, up to the Taiping Rebellion which decimated an enormous part of the people of China.

But now the Chinese have attempted to have one language, Kwan Hua, or as the ignorant foreigners call it, Mandarin, and they have not only tried to exterminate each other but are fighting everybody in Asia.

It is curious that the better we understand each other, the more we dislike each other. George Bernard Shaw was so prejudiced against women that he regarded them as equal to men.

Shaw was cruel, for what man would have his hair dyed each season for no better reason than that a new shade had become fashionable; or what man would paint his finger nails various colors except a savage warrior or an American Indian to indicate a tribal mark?

Surely no man since the time of Louis XIV would wear the kinds of heels that are now fashionable among women which involve the risk of the heel breaking off and hurling the woman forward or making her walk ungracefully as female. In fact, I am so much though on stilts.

Far be it from me to be anti-pro to my wife often tells me to be my age which strikes me as utterly ridiculous. Why would anyone want to be his age if he can possibly be younger and gayer?

But that is not the point. What we are talking about is that some folks find a simple solution to all problems which brings them great happiness except that the solutions do not work out.

Imagine if all the world spoke German what a guttural world would prevail. And even German is divided into dozens of dialects depending upon lipis and low or high pronunciations. I once knew something about quite a few languages but I had a hard time convincing a young lady that I really understood her in each.

'At Least I Know Where To Turn For Help'

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg—The year 1962 may well be the last year for some time to come of the great power struggle that for nearly the past decade has beset Pennsylvania's legislature.

This most certainly is one factor, as Pennsylvania's lawmakers head into the current session, well worth noting—and remembering, as decisive November, 1962 approaches.

The "composition"—the political make-up and complexion, that is—of the current lawmaking brood that yesterday descended once again upon Capitol Hill, is indeed of far greater import than generally realized.

It unquestionably will be changed this fall when voters of the Keystone State trot to the polls to vote in (or out of) office their local representatives.

The 210-member State House of Representatives controlled 109-101 by administration Democrats—"squeakingly"—is perhaps as good a word to use as any when it requires 106 votes to pass legislation in the lower chamber.

On the other side of the legislative corridors the story is decidedly different. In the State

The Pennsylvania Story

Last Year Of Struggle For Power?

Senate in a paradox unequalled, the 50-seat upper chamber is split squarely down the middle—25 administration Democratic seats and 25 anti-administration Republican seats.

(The same wide-eyed split persisted during the past 1961 session of course, inasmuch as legislative elections are held only every other year.)

This year—the year 1962—is bound to see a change one way or the other.

This year all 210 seats in the House are up for filling along with half of the 50 seats in the Senate.

What will happen when the showdown comes in November of course is anyone's guess, but we'll most certainly eat our hat (uh) should be some odd and freakish circumstance, the same lineup, be returned to legislative halls!

Assuming this will not and cannot happen, the possibility then arises that either administration Democrats or anti-administration Republicans may gain control—out-and-out control, that is—of both House and Senate this year.

Should this develop the tenuous and high-powered dickering that now marks the scene unquestionably will disappear.

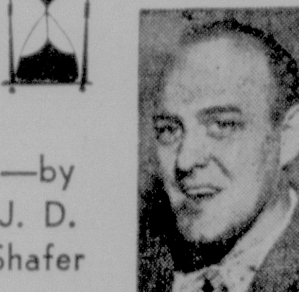

For example, last year—and it will be the same this year—administration Democrats had, and again will have no choice, other than to embark upon a program of doodling and haranguing with their GOP counterparts (particularly in the Senate where 26 votes are required) to amble through administration legislation.

Some made the grade last year—and some didn't. Pressures had a great deal to do with it. There was no other course.

The stand-off is identical in this year 1962—and this is the year of the fiscal twitches; this is the year when lawmakers will be elected, and this is the year when 27 new congressmen from the Keystone State will be elected.

The "veto threat" on the part of anti-administration GOPsters is tremendous. One house can't move ahead without the consent of the other. For example—administration Democrats in control of the House of Representatives may want to adjourn, but they can't force it through. It requires concurrence on the part of the Senate—and that requires 26 votes and the 26th vote must be an anti-administration Republican!

Cruellest blow dealt a doughty magazine editor came from a mere wisp of a girl—a very pretty one, too—who submitted a short story in longhand. "Your story's first-rate and I mean to buy it," the editor told her cheerily. "But we had the devil's own time deciphering your handwriting. Why didn't you type the story?"

"Type it?" jeered the girl. "Do you think I'd waste my time writing stories if I knew how to type?"

Off The Record

By Bob Clark

One of our favorite mountain story tellers has gone to the pasture, so to speak. But knowing the individual we doubt that Johnny DeSanto, Pocono Summit's self-styled mayor, has actually retired.

Officially yes, Johnny and his lovely wife, Mary, retired from the hotel and restaurant business field Nov. 1. The perfect host of the Poconos turned over the reins of his establishment to his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alwrt Ingetti.

Johnny, a 30-year business veteran of Pocono Summit, has watched the village blossom from a few houses to hundreds of homes, stores and business sites.

DeSanto remembers the days when the Summit was missing of such things as building contractors, bake shop, real estate projects, service stations, and motels.

"Now there is something going on all the time," Johnny notes. "The town has a civic club, ladies auxiliaries, Lions Club, Altar Rosary Society, children's play area and a community house."

DeSanto says all of this was done through the efforts of the "finest neighbors you'll find anywhere."

Back in the old days Johnny's eating spot served spaghetti for 25 cents and a steak for 75 cents. DeSanto has seen a lot come and go in his time. We can recall Eric Von Stroheim, the German actor who didn't practice for what he was noted, "All Quiet on the Western Front."

The arrogant character of the screen had the same mold off the film strip. But Johnny, handled the boisterous German in the same manner Dr. Gillespie corals Dr. Kildare.

Two-ton Tony Galento was another name who trained on Johnny's steaks and Italian food. And by the looks of the New Jersey former heavyweight title contender he ate and enjoyed every morsel of it.

Countless more prominent figures—doctors, lawyers, and stage, screen, radio stars—broke bread at Johnny's emporium of good food.

When DeSanto "officially" called it a day in November he retired with these words:

"When a race horse slows down he is retired to pasture on the Blue Grass of Kentucky. Well, Mary and I have retired to the sunshine of Florida. Though we are planning on being away only at intervals our thoughts and good wishes will always be with the wonderful people of Monroe County."

Like the little tike who once looked up at Shoeless Joe Jackson we counter, "Say it isn't so, Johnny. Say it isn't so."

Probes Of Tax Exempt Foundations

Washington — The steadily pyramiding increase of thousands of tax exempt foundations is headed for a double-barrelled scrutiny at the impending session of Congress.

Since 1952, the number of tax exempt foundations has soared from 12,295 to more than 46,000 last year—an increase of around 370 percent.

Representatives Wright Patman, D. Tex., chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, and F. Edward Hebert, D. La., head of the Armed Services Investigating Subcommittee, are preparing searching probes of the vast array of tax exempt organizations.

The two veteran House crusaders, while working closely together, are planning separate inquiries.

Patman contemplates a broad general investigation to determine if tighter federal regulation of foundations is necessary. Hebert will concentrate on foundations making costly "studies" and engaging in other activities for the military services.

These contracts run into tens of millions of dollars, with $50,000, and even larger, salaries not uncommon.

Both legislators already have assembled a great deal of information about foundations. The Internal Revenue Service has been one of Patman's major sources of detailed data. Hebert is sending out a penetrating questionnaire to hundreds of foundations doing business with the armed forces.

The White House is displaying keen interest in these inquiries.

Patman is seeking administration support for his investigation, as he may propose it be conducted by a special House committee instead of by the Joint Economic Committee which he heads. Hebert's probe already has the approval of Representative Carl Vinson, D. Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, of which Hebert's group is a subcommittee.

In Patman's discussions with assistants of President Kennedy, they evinced particular interest in airing the membership and activities of tax exempt foundations reputedly financing extremist movements of both the Right and the Left.

What's Behind It — Representative Hebert, in addition to throwing the spotlight on high salaries of foundation officials doing defense work, will dig into reports of stock market speculation on the basis of secret information about such contracts.

Also Hebert wants to ascertain whether studies prepared by foundations at considerable cost to taxpayers, actually had already been made by military officers and civilian officials. In many instances the latter are employed as consultants at $100 a day, the legal maximum, while there is no limit on foundation salaries for the same kind of work.

As a result, Hebert is convinced his investigation will disclose that the payrolls of these foundations are heavily padded.

In a memorandum to Democratic congressional leaders, Representative Patman stresses two points in urging a sweeping probe of tax exempt foundations: the tremendous increase in the number of these organizations in the past decade, and their virtually unlimited powers.

From the Internal Revenue Service, Patman cites the following startling figures on the zooming expansion of foundations: 12,295 in 1952; 21,598 in 1953; 24,839 in 1954; 28,859 in 1955; 30,021 in 1956; 33,373 in 1957; 39,264 in 1958; 41,444 in 1959; 45,124 in 1960; more than 46,000 in 1961.

Adds Patman, "The powers of these foundations are practically unlimited, except that they may not directly engage in business for profit."

But the militant Texan points out that these immensely wealthy organizations can exercise great and far-reaching economic and other influence, particularly on small businesses.

Two foundations alone, Patman declares have more than $50 million.

The Rockefeller Foundation's last annual report listed securities totaling $384,456,318, of which $498,198,262 was in common stocks. The Carnegie Foundation reported $259 million in assets.

"The staggering growth of foundations in recent years," declares Patman in his memorandum, "graphically demonstrates the overwhelming need for an investigation of the economic consequences of granting tax exemption to privately controlled foundations. Their huge number and size made it imperative to examine in detail their impact on our economy."

"Particularly it is desirable to determine whether the 'dead hand' of wealth does dominate our economy through these foundations.

"I am especially concerned about foundation-controlled business competing with small businessmen; the economic effect of great amounts of wealth accumulating in privately controlled tax exempt foundations; the problem of control of the capital for an undetermined period by a few individuals or their self-appointed successors; and the power of foundations to interlock and knit together, through investments, a network of commercial alliances which assures harmonious action whenever they have a common interest."

One objective of Patman's investigation is to require all foundations with one million dollars or more in assets be charted by the federal government.

Inside You And Yours

The Surgeon And The Clam

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

The surgeon ate the clam and helped elect the "1961 Germ of the Year."

He didn't know that clam bed was loaded with sick-making viruses. And so he became another statistic in the huge 1961 infectious hepatitis epidemic.

Strangely enough, hepatitis resembles polio. Each infection begins when you gulp down germs. After a waiting period, each invades your circulation, triggering feverish aches and pains for a few days. And weeks later, germs that stopped off at the liver spark fatty inflammation. (Polio virus prefers the nervous system.)

Fatty swelling stretched painful raw nerve endings around the surgeon's liver. His stomach quivered at the thought of food. Again his feverish head throbbed. He was too pooped to lift a scalpel!

Became Jaundiced Swelling clogged tiny bile channels between liver cells and yellow jaundice stained the whites of his eyes and skin.

With rest and rich foods — 3,000 calories daily, unless you're overweight — almost everyone recovers. Cortisone-medicines can melt painful liver inflammation and other drugs quiet restless stomachs.

Doctors aren't certain how much all this helps but it certainly doesn't hurt.

The surgeon had to give up cocktails. Alcohol attacks infected livers. So do fumes from dry cleaning solvents! The hepatitis virus spreads after it passes through the intestines. Thorough hand-washing and modern plumbing help prevent epidemics. Beware of water from wells or springs near sewers and septic tanks; also shellfish from unapproved beds where sewage often deposits the virus.

Play Safe Chances are, you had hepatitis years ago. Most infections are so mild they pass unnoticed. But to play safe, you should still have a shot of antibody — rich gamma globulin if anyone in the house comes down with hepatitis.

Like almost everyone, our surgeon recovered. And now he knows that when you tangle with clams and the 1961 Germ of the Year, the world certainly isn't your oyster!

Editor, The Daily Record: I hope that the public took notice how quickly the street department in Stroudsburg got out to fight the snowstorm on Dec. 23. They had every road in wonderful shape, including the parking lots.

Then on Sunday morning early they got out and cleaned up the snow on Main St. and in front of the churches for Christmas services.

I can say only one thing: The Borough of Stroudsburg and its taxpayers can be proud to have a good man running the street department. He does a lot of good work with the handful of men he has. If the taxpayers don't think so, go to some of the neighboring boroughs. I have noticed for the past few years that the borough of Stroudsburg has been cleaner, and the snow has been cleaned up right after the storms, and quickly.

I was told on Christmas Day that the superintendent's name is Smith; which Smith I don't know. Regardless which one, he's doing a fine job and I'm sure the town fathers agree.

Take the snow we had Dec. 28. Mr. Smith had all three of his plows out while it was still snowing. I know; I saw them. All roads were open by the middle of that afternoon.

The next morning, the snow was removed from the parking meter areas, and some areas that have no parking meters. How much more can a man do?

I say praise Superintendent Smith for a job well done.

Just Between Us --

—By Bobby Westbrook

In the course of putting away the Christmas tree ornaments yesterday, we delved deep into a box of family ornaments, apparently last used in 1942, according to the newspaper with which they were covered.

The ornaments themselves went back far beyond that—probably even before me, and consisted mainly of fruits and vegetables in unlikely hues made of some sort of glazed cotton, although there were two glass heads on clamps with flesh-colored faces and silver eyes, and some Brownie-made concoctions of paper wads and silver ribbon.

But it was the newspaper dated Jan. 2, which attracted the most attention. Jim Shafer is the member of the staff who does the research for our Mirror of Time but you have to see the paper itself to savor the changes which time has made.

Although world news, so shortly after Pearl Harbor, was breaking fast there were only three international stories on the front page. One dealing with the siege of Manila, one with the Red Army gains against Hitler in the Ukraine, and one with English commando raids on the Lofoten Islands.

Other front page headlines included "Farewell Given Young Patriots," namely Donald Dimmick, Arthur Brink and John Balmoo as New Year's Eve; "Two More Boys Join the Color," that is Robert Martin and Ted Hoffman, "Infant Year is Welcomed," "Glad New Year Brought Trouble."

The headlines themselves were often almost as long as the stories, which nevertheless were all continued on some other pages, which made it very complicated to follow, especially with the paper so brittle with age.

Styles in newspaper make-up and writing change but the "New Year Still Brings Trouble" in one form or another so let's hope 20 years from now our descendants can, unwrapping Christmas ornaments, still find interest in the headlines of today, the happiest note of which is still the first baby.

Mt. Zion WSCS Joins Devotions, Party, Gifts

Devotional services were held in the Mt. Zion Methodist Church, Chipperfield Drive, when the December meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service was held. Services opened with the singing of "Silent Night," followed by prayer by Ada Sandt. Scripture readings appropriate to the season were given by Mary Papillon and Mary Hallett.

Doris Teada read "The Legend Of the Christmas Rose"; Ada Sandt, "Remember How Christmas Used To Be"; Edith Lee, "Never Fear, the Star Will Find Him," Thelma Frailey gave the benediction.

A Christmas film, showing the derivation of many Christmas carols, was shown, through the courtesy of Wesley Chapel. Ernest Papillon served as projectionist.

No business session was held. The group moved to the annex for a Christmas party. There they found the social room decorated for the holiday season. The serving table centerpiece was a candelabra entwined with greens. On one end of the table was a miniature ornament tree, while on the other end was a miniature snowball tree. On the wall over the table original door pieces had been placed. These featured jingle bells made from tin cans, then painted with Christmas designs with liquid emboisery and fastened on ribbons.

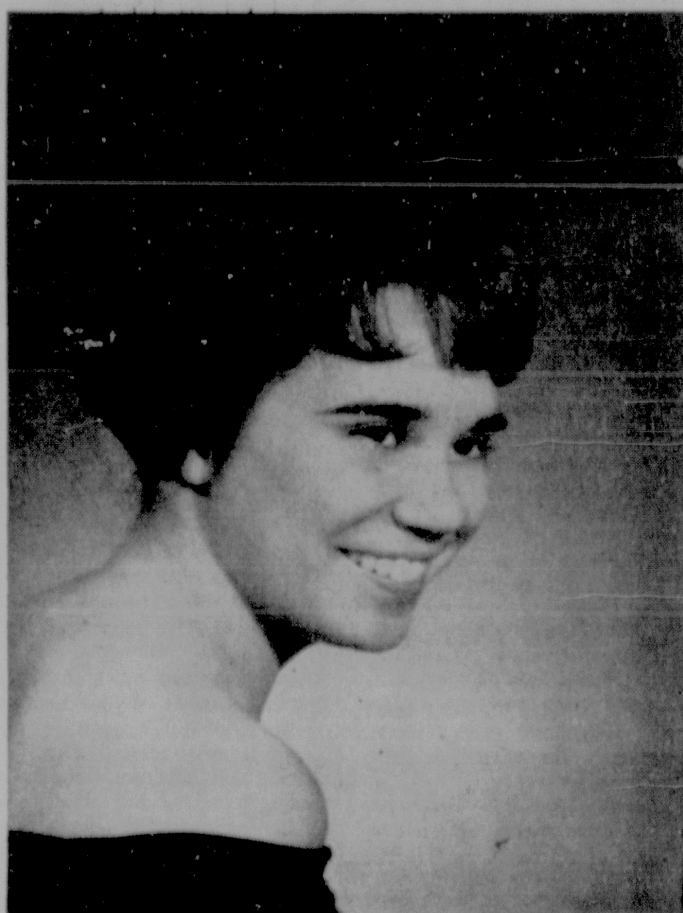

Refreshments were served by Mabel Heller and Ruth Bush, while carols were played on the recently purchased church record player. Refreshments featured ice cream Christmas trees. Favors were edible Santas. The body was made from an apple; the head was a marshmallow with cloves for eyes and nose; the mouth was painted on with food coloring and the legs were made from cranberries.

After the party, three boxes of food were packed to be distributed to needy families. The food for the boxes was donated by WSCS members who did this rather than exchange gifts.

January 18 was announced as the next meeting date.

Miss Donna Davanzo

Student At College Is Engaged

Bangor — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Davanzo of 887 Market St., Bangor, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Donna Davanzo, to William Strauss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Strauss, of 214 Lobb Ave., Pen Argyl.

The prospective bride is attending East Stroudsburg State College. She is a graduate of Bangor High School and during the summer is employed at the Bangor Playground.

Mr. Strauss, a graduate of Pen Argyl High School, is employed by the A & P Tea Co. He will leave in January for active duty with the US Navy.

There's no doubt about it, Agnes Holdorf of our Wyckoff credit office is being well "watched" these days. When I met her in our employees' lounge after Christmas she was not only wearing a stunning watch in a gold cornucopia suspended from her neck, but also her customary gold wrist watch. Oh well, no one could ever accuse Aggie of being a CLOCK watcher! . . . Stopped by the switchboard a few moments ago and Dottie Dunn showed me a smart new Bobbie Brooks sweater she had just added to her wardrobe. Of Helanca yarn, it is soft, lustrous, and stretchy, and Dottie is toying with the idea of adding a collar from a long cherished piece of mink. It sounds so glamorous, I can understand why she's taking it along on her New Year's weekend trip to Lancaster . . . My hands have been in horrible condition as a result of all the laundry and cleaning I did prior to Christmas, but Esther Ainspach suggested a lotion which worked miracles—Helena Rubinstein's "Young Touch." This may seem silly, but the skin lost much of its dryness and became visibly softer after the very first application, and I am following Madame Rubinstein's suggestion that it be applied twice or three times daily. Right now this lotion, usually 2.00, is special priced at 1.50. I might mention also that it was created especially to give aging hands the look of youth, and is said to prevent the discolorations that come with advancing years. Helen Diamond tells me there are just two bottles of this lotion in stock at the present, but she's hoping another delivery comes soon for "the demand is terrific. We just can't keep it in stock, so many women use it." That being the case, one KNOWS beyond question that it must be good—so why not place your order today? . . . Helen tells me that our Cosmetic department now has a long list of the famous DuBarry products on sale at just about half price. "Tell the women readers to come in and really look over the values in our department," Helen says, "because they'll never find bigger savings on such a wide array of truly splendid beauty aids."

Looking back upon our Wyckoff doll party, I've come to the conclusion that children have changed. Once upon a time when we scheduled a party for 3 o'clock, the room was filled by 2:30. Now this is not so—the children were still arriving, believe it or not, at quarter of four, when the entertainment was ending and there remained only the matter of refreshments and favors. It seems to me too, that in the bygone days of a decade ago, when I first joined our Wyckoff store family, there was greater variety in the dolls than there is today. True, we still had a few dolls so large they looked for all the world like little girls, and I almost served one of them a Dixie cup—and we had Casper, the friendly ghost; a bride or two; a few glamour dolls dressed in frills and lace for a gala New Year party; a Nun doll; a Shirley Temple doll, and a Chatty Catha. But by and large most of the dolls were Thumbelina, or her look-alike. Apparently, all little mothers have just about the same taste in "babies." Wouldn't it be a confusing world if grown-up Mothers also did, and were given whatever they asked? . . . Prior to New Year's I watched Mary Papson of our Wyckoff dress department changing the attire of a mannequin on our mezzanine. This is quite a chore, involving the removal of the lady's arms—an operation to which she submits with her usual stony-faced nonchalance. When Mary had her zipped-up and tiara-ed, I asked, "Does your friend have a name?" Mary grinned, "Well . . . I don't know what the store calls her. I call them all Judy." Mary and I stood back and surveyed her. She had just been stripped of white brocade with bell skirt and was now in printed taffeta sheath under chiffon, with rhinestones sequins around the jewel neckline. "You know, Mary," I said, "she looks beautiful—but sad." The mannequin was standing in a bower of colorful paper streamers, holding a party horn in her hand, but her eyes had a far away look, as though—heaven forbid!—she had just caught her favorite beau beneath the mistletoe, kissing another girl. "What we need, I think, is a mannequin that smiles." Mary agreed. After all it just isn't fitting that any woman, real or unreal, who looks so elegant in one of our prettiest Wyckoff dresses, should appear so tragic—particularly when she's welcoming a New Year.

Resolution For The Do-It-Yourself Painter

AS A DEDICATED do-it-yourself decorator, I firmly resolve to put the past behind me and paint myself and my family a rosy future. The ten following strokes will make 1962 a "Happy New Year" around our house.

1. I will be delightfully daring instead of safely somber; no more neutral gray or beige walls in the living room. This year they'll be painted an eye-catching color that will make the whole room come alive. Maybe a rich turquoise blue or gold or geranium pink.
2. Better late than never: I will get acquainted with multi-color paint at last. The random color-flecked finish would be perfect for the nursery. And one of the more formal color combinations with gold or silver flecks would really perk up the dining room. I can't decide between white, gold and aqua or gray, blue and silver, but no matter — either one will look beautiful.
3. I'm as sentimental as the next, but that big, dingy breakfast room Gramma gave us is finally going to get a color bath. The way it is now, no amount of polish can keep it from looking dull, dreary and overly conspicuous. It will look far more attractive, and much less overpowering when it's enameled to match one of the flecks of the new multi-color dining room walls.
4. I will personally campaign for radiator camouflage. Some unknowing friends insist upon painting radiators and pipes with metallic paint which not only makes the unsightly objects stand out like sore thumbs, but retain some of the heat. In this house, every pipe and radiator will be painted the same color as its surrounding wall, making it fade into the background.

5. I don't have to wait until we can afford costly replastering before we redecorate the master bedroom. Those cracks and small holes don't require replastering when a texture paint is used; because of its special heavy consistency you patch as you paint. And the handsome textured finish appeals to the masculine and feminine tastes.
6. I have learned the hard way that we don't have a particularly cruel bathroom mirror, but we do have one of the most uncomplimentary colors on the walls — chartreuse; no wonder we looked slightly sick. This time we know that a pinky hue is best for bathroom walls—it flatters the complexion. I think a perky rose or peach would look very attractive, both on the walls and in the mirror.
7. I will take the heat off my kitchen; it's suffering from an overdose of sunshine in its color scheme. Yellows, corals and pinks are wonderful gay accents for the kitchen, but for

Stroudsburg Furnace Has Humidispray

DOES overly-dry air in your home cause a burning sensation in your nostrils? If so, it is nature's way of telling you that you need more moisture in the air.

Lack of the proper moisture content in your home can cause colds, headaches, dry scalp and skin and a host of other unhealthy conditions.

Stroudsburg Furnace Co., West Main St., pioneers in the field of heating, now offer Lennox Humid-spray, a wonderful new method of putting that needed moisture back on the air in your home... and in just the right amounts.

The Humidispray unit is installed right in the ducts of your heating system. The water used in the system is permanently piped to the unit and acts not only as a moistening agent but also as a filtering agent which keeps dust and airborne matter from being blown into the room. Once the water metering jet is set, it can be forgotten and the complete Humid-spray unit will function automatically.

Good For Lifetime
The Humidispray unit is constructed of anodized aluminum and installation of the unit is good for a lifetime as there is nothing to rust, corrode or clog.

Walter Stevens of Stroudsburg Furnace Company, local Lennox Comfort Craftsman, will be happy to give you more information on how Humid-spray can be installed in your heating system.

Let Morman Beautify Your Home

THE BATHROOMS of many homes are getting extra-heavy use these days, with the children "sprucing up" for school, and Dad in a hurry to get off to work. Floors are wet with water, walls splashed and Mom has the job of "mopping up."

Why not turn the job of beautifying your walls and floors over to an expert in the field? A swish of a mop or damp cloth will make the clean-up job a snap and you'll be proud of the smart appearance L. V. Morman & Son can give your bathroom.

In flooring, one may select from a rainbow of colors in linoleum, vinyl, tile or yard goods to obtain any effect you desire.

In wall tile choose plastic or ceramic tile for the job in either regular or "king" size tiles. The transformation will ease work for Mother and make it a joy to care for. Let L. V. Morman & Son show you their broad selection and help you with your floor and wall tiling problems.

They're located at 326 Main St., in Stroudsburg. A phone call (HA 1-4411) will bring one of their experts to your home if you have a problem area which requires looking over.

Car Starting Trouble? See O. F. Thomas

MOST EVERY area resident has, at one time or another, known the aggravation of a car that won't run or start properly. Our extremely winter weather makes it necessary to have vehicles that are tuned to the n'th degree.

If your car doesn't perform to suit you, why not call O. F. Thomas Garage at 107 N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg. Making your start easily and run well is their business.

Fouled or worn spark plugs, dirty ignition points and the like can cause poor starting and performance in any type gasoline engine. Likewise, the carburetion can be out of adjustment, especially cars with automatic chokes.

An automatic choke working improperly can cause excess gas consumption too. That's why it pays to take your car to O. F. Thomas Garage, specialists in ignition and carburetion.

An addition to the back of their building gives them even more working space. "OH" also is an official car inspection station plus holding Official Inspection No. 42.

Put all your car care in competent hands: See "OH" at 107 N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg.

When the shelves may be adjusted at some later date, there are a number of installations that can be used. Some persons prefer these methods even for permanent use. One procedure is to insert short dowels into drilled holes in the uprights and place the shelves on the dowels. Another is to use special metal pins in drilled holes.

Still another is to screw long lengths of metal adjustable supports into the uprights. These metal strips have openings in them every couple of inches into which insert supports are placed. The shelves rest on the inserts, which can easily be removed and placed into other openings any time you wish to change the position of the shelves.

The cool comfort the walls should be painted a blue, blue-green or blue gray.

Right Type Pump For Every Job

THERE ARE Pumps and Pumps and D. Katz & Sons, Dreher Ave., Stroudsburg is one place you can depend on for the right type of pump for every job around the home.

With the thawing conditions that are going to prevail throughout our area and the excess water conditions that will develop in basements and the like, sump pumps are very much in demand.

The time to prepare for these conditions is before the conditions exist. Many people today have a permanent pump built into their basement at that low point providing for a dry condition at all times. A pump installed in this way is always ready when the first little trickle of water starts and it turns on automatically.

Advice Offered
Here too, you'll find D. Katz and Sons ready with the finest line of pumps to be found anywhere. Oftentimes, we are misinformed about what type and capacity a pump will handle our water pumping job.

Ed Katz or Bob Collins of the Plumbing and Heating Division will be happy to inform you of the proper Jacuzzi Pump for your application.

From The Bowling Bag

By Curt Prins

A Scarcity Of 200 Plus Bowlers

IF THE GUY on the stool next to you tells you between slips of cold killer that his bowling average is 200 or more, he's either a member of a small select group or a liar.

A survey of the American Bowling Congress, which included about 50 percent of its members, showed that only 4,632 bowlers had an average of 200 or better last year. The survey also indicated that 11,730 had average of under 100. The ABC is an all-male organization.

The biggest percentage of bowlers have between a 155 and a 159 average and the average score is 153.968.

The ABC also reports that the average score has dropped slightly since 1954 but the number of 200 plus bowlers has increased 173 percent in seven years.

The dip in average score can be explained by the huge increase in bowlers since 1954, many of them taking up the sport for the first time. And the new blood also explains the rise in better bowlers. There had to be some potentially good bowlers in the new flock.

Few Doubles For Average Game

If the average score is 153 plus, that means that in the average game, there are between five and six marks or on the other side, four or five open frames. With four or five open frames, it probably indicates that there are few doubles in the average game and even fewer turkeys.

So probably the best way to jump out of the average class is to concentrate on hitting that second or third strike in a row. Bowling may be the next sport to go intercollegiate, but there are a few bugs that have to be ironed out before the sport can go to college.

The National Intercollegiate Athletic Assn. has adopted plans to put bowling on its schedule but the NAIA is quick to realize the major problem — where do you find amateur bowlers?

A bowler who has taken part in a league that pays cash prizes, no matter how small or a bowler that rolls in jackpot games, is considered a professional under intercollegiate standards. When you take what's left, there would be few bowlers.

But a bowler who is worth his ball bag has to have league competition to improve and since most of the league's pay off in cash, it's almost impossible for a bowler to improve without becoming a "pro."

NAIA Is Developing Bowling Slowly

Until a solution to the pro problem has been worked out, the NAIA plans to keep bowling on the agenda, but to develop it as an intercollegiate slowly.

There is another interesting aspect to the bowling pro problem that may have been overlooked.

Since a pro in one sport is ineligible for all other intercollegiate sports, a student who has taken part in a cash league of jackpot games, should be ineligible for football, basketball, baseball or any other sport.

What would happen if Syracuse had to forfeit all its football victories this year because Ernie Davis bowls in a Thursday night league that pays $25 to each member of the winning team at the end of the year?

Hungry Sportsman

Fine Venison Meat Loaf

If you intend to make a trophy from the head of your deer or other big game animal, don't cut his throat to bleed him. Stick your knife into the brisket just in front of the foreleg, severing the large veins and arteries over the heart. If an adequate cartridge was used in downing the animal, bleeding is seldom necessary. Wound from the bullet takes care of it!

For a venison loaf that will meet high favor with all hands at your table run 3 cups venisonburger through coarse grid of meat grinder. This second trip through the chopper gives a fine-textured loaf. Mix with 1/4 cup pork sausage, 2 cups crushed corn flakes, 2 cups crushed wheat flakes, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 4 tablespoons minced parsley, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 2 beaten eggs and 1 scant cup milk. Press into buttered loaf pan, sprinkle heavily with paprika, and bake 1 hour in moderate oven (350 degrees).

Fried Deer, Elk or Moose Tongue

IF YOU SPOT a deer while you are walking and he spots you at the same time, don't stop! Just as sure as you do, your fine venison dinners will romp off in one piece and at a very high speed. Get your gun up to your shoulder as you continue moving and fire at the very instant you stop!

Fried deer (or elk or moose) tongue is a once-a-season delicacy for most hunters. In the case of small whitetails and Sonora deer, several tongues are needed because they are only a little larger than sheep tongues. The larger whitetails and mule deer provide tongues that will (with the addition of a few slices of bacon per person) serve four. With elk or moose tongues, you will not need the bacon extender.

Simmer the deer tongue (or tongues) until tender (two hours or a bit longer) in water to cover to which is added one whole clove, one bay leaf, three six-inch ribs of celery, one small onion (whole) and one-half teaspoon salt. After cooking, let tongue lay in the broth until cool, then skin and chill in refrigerator. Cut into one-half-inch thick slices, dip in beaten egg, then in crushed corn flakes, season with salt and pepper and fry to a golden brown in butter or other shortening.

No More Kingpins In Pro Football

NOT SINCE the Chicago Bears, Monsters of the Midway were cracking heads in the late thirties and early forties, has there been a dynasty in the National Football League.

The draft system, installed by Bert Bell was the biggest reason that no team has been able to dominate the league since the great Bears team. Before the draft, teams were free to go after any college player. The team that offered the most money got the best players.

Only two clubs had the cash to go after players then, the Bears and the Redskins, so when the Bears weren't the kingpins, the Redskins took over. The Cleveland Rams under Bob Waterfield and then the New York Giants finally broke the stranglehold. The Philadelphia Eagles with Steve Van Buren, the last of the great Eagle runners, made their move in 1948.

The Cleveland Browns and Detroit Lions dominate the game in the early fifties, and then it was New York again in the East and Baltimore in the Western conference. But most of these teams dominate play in only their division. No team has won the league title three years in a row since the early days of the league and Baltimore was the last team to win it two years in a row.

Now it appears that the Green Bay Packers may be on the verge of making a shambles of the league. The Packers have had a colorful history in pro football. They have had some great teams but until recently the club has had money trouble. Now the team is set financially and not only has cash, but youth on its side.

Only Two Old Men On Packers

The offensive Packer team has only two old men, right tackle Dave Hanner, who is 31 and center Jim Ringo, 29. The average age of the Packers first defensive and offensive unit is 26.

But pro football ages its players quickly and rookies of a year or two ago seem to be over the hill in a few years.

The Baltimore Colts had a young team when they won the title in 1958. Fullback Alan Ameche, who scored the winning touchdown, John Unitas, Lenny Moore, Billy Pritchard, Ed Lippscombe, Jim Parker, George Preas, Buzz Nutter, John Sample and many other Colts were just starting to play their best football. It seemed as if Baltimore was on top for good.

But the next year, the Colts had to survive a scare by the West Coast teams in the final two games to win the conference title and then whipped a so-so New York team 31-10 for the league crown.

Colts Started Skid Quickly

But then came 1960 and the Colts were well out of the title picture. In fact Baltimore didn't even make the playoff bowl for second place teams. This year the Colts were just another team for much of the year and the players who were in their prime only three years ago, were on their way down and many of them still in their twenties.

Green Bay in defending its crown must face something that no other champ met. The league will be the most evenly matched in its history next year.

During the 1961 season, every team except the Redskins were in divisional contention at some time during the season. And the Redskins now that they have Bobby Mitchell and the second best defensive line in the league will cause some trouble next year.

And then there is another thing that is called "being hungry." Until a team has won a title, it is "hungry" or lean but when the club is a champ, it becomes fat.

The Packers have one thing going for them in the fat and lean department. The payoff in this year's title game was a small one, only a little more than $5,000 to each winning player. But next year the title game will be played in the East, which has the big stadiums and the winner will probably collect more than $7,000 each. That extra $2,000 could keep the Packers hungry.

Governor's Budget Shows

Harness Racing Will Bring $1,440,880 In First Year

HARRISBURG (AP)—Commonwealth budget makers Tuesday forecast Pennsylvania's first revenue from wagering at harness race tracks during the 1962-63 fiscal year.

Gov. Lawrence's proposed budget for the 12-month period beginning July 1 projected revenue of $1,440,880. Joseph M. Lynch, executive secretary of the commission, termed the estimates "conservative."

Only two of an authorized four licenses have been issued for harness tracks in Pennsylvania. One is the Liberty Bell Racing Association, Philadelphia, and the other is the Washington Trotting Association, Washington County.

Expected Bet

Lynch said the revenue estimates were based on an expected base of wagering forecast at $600,000 daily for the Liberty Bell group and $200,000 daily for the Washington organization.

Under the harness law each of the tracks could hold race meetings of 50 days.

Lynch said Liberty Bell advised the commission that it expects to be in operation by next Aug. 1, while the Washington group is aiming for a Sept. 1 starting date. The Liberty Bell track is now under construction near the Philadelphia-Bucks county line.

In a move not related to the budget, Lynch announced he is resigning his $20,000 a year post, effective Jan. 31, as executive secretary of the commission to become general manager of the Washington organization.

The harness commission, which has been at odds over the

Ernie Davis Selected As Best College Back By AP

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ernie Davis of Syracuse, college football's Mr. All-Everything, was selected back of the year in the annual Associated Press year-end poll.

The fleet, powerful 210-pound halfback was named for the honor by 43 of the 212 sportswriters and broadcasters who cast votes. His three All-America backfield teammates followed in the voting. Bob Ferguson of Ohio State and Jim Sexton of Texas with 34 each and Minnesota's Sandy Stephens with 23.

Next came three quarterbacks. Pat Trammell of Alabama with 12, John Hadl of Kansas 12, Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State 9, and Iowa State's single wing tailback, Dave Hoppmann 7.

Big Contract

Davis, winner of the Heisman Trophy as the year's outstanding player, was a 3-year star at Syracuse. He recently signed an $80,000, three-year contract with the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League, reportedly the most lucrative pact ever given a rookie.

At Syracuse Davis smashed many school records set by Cleveland's great runner, Jim Brown. Davis led Syracuse to an all-winning season and the national championship in 1959 and was a standout in two post season victories, over Texas in the 1960 Cotton Bowl and over Miami (Fla.) in the Liberty Bowl Dec. 16.

This fall Davis was among the nation's rushing and scoring leaders with 823 yards and 94 points. He was Syracuse's key man.

Among others nominated for back of the year were Lance Alworth of Arkansas, Mel Renfro of Oregon, Curtis McClinton of Kansas, Mike Fracchia of Alabama and Eddie Wilson of Arizona.

Collier Out As Kentucky Grid Coach

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Blanton Collier, football coach at the University of Kentucky, was fired by the Kentucky Athletic Board Tuesday. The board said it bought the remaining three years of Collier's contract.

Collier, who compiled a 41-36-3 record with Kentucky in his eight seasons here, had been under fire recently from some persons who had expressed their views, to the board.

In a brief statement, the board said Collier's contract was terminated "by mutual agreement."

The board only last month reaffirmed its support of Collier, asking that the rest of his contract be honored.

Collier said he had no immediate plans for the future.

"I will probably relax for a few weeks before making any decision about my future plans," he said. The board's statement did not mention whether it had named a successor.

Collier's first team had a 7-2 mark, but his won-lost record gradually declined and he finished this year with a 5-5 mark.

Rumblings of discontent grew after Kentucky lost to arch rival Tennessee in the final game of the season.

Texan Smith Rates 10-Goal

NEW YORK (AP)—Cecil Smith, the 57-year-old Texas wonder, was rated Tuesday at the maximum 10-goal handicap for the 24th consecutive year by the United States Polo Association.

The former cowboy who plays for the Oak Brook, Ill., Polo Club, shares the top spot with Australian Robert Skene in the 1962 ratings. Skene, a 10-goaler since 1951, resides in California where he plays for the Santa Barbara Club.

The two head a national list of more than 750 players.

Colts Start New Stadium

HOUSTON (AP)—Ground-breaking ceremonies for the $22 million all-weather home of the National League Houston Colts will be held Wednesday.

Excavation begins at the site of the covered, air-conditioned County Stadium the new baseball team will use in 1963.

The Colts make their National League debut April 10. They are building an $800,000 auxiliary stadium for the 1962 season.

County Stadium will seat 46,217 baseball fans; the auxiliary stadium 32,000.

Fullmer Given Double Honor

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Double distinction came to Gene Fullmer Tuesday from the National Boxing Association.

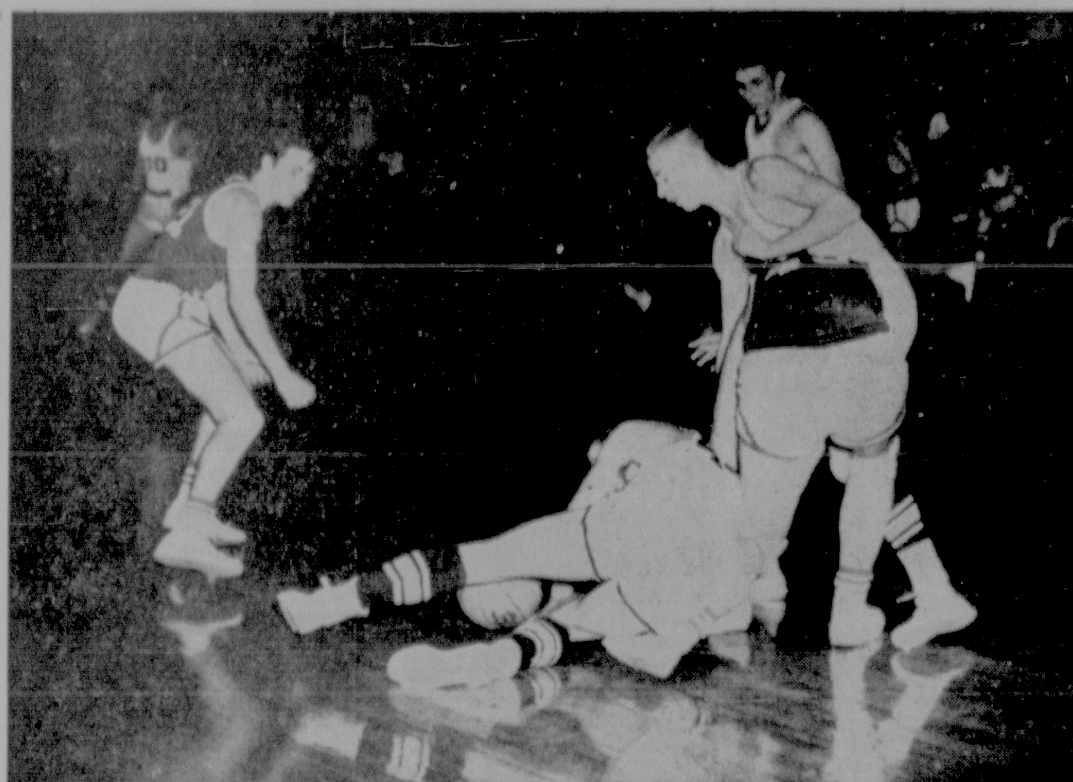

Fullmer, who is recognized as world middleweight champion by the NBA, was voted the association's fighter of the year and also named as boxer of the month in ratings for December.

Last month, the West Jordan, Utah, fighter was voted the Edward J. Neil memorial plaque as fighter of the year by the New York Boxing Writers Association.

Reds Acquire Nats' Pitcher

CINCINNATI (AP)—Relief pitcher Johnny Klippstein, 34-year-old right hander was acquired by the Cincinnati Reds today from the Washington Senators of the American League. It marked the closing part of an earlier deal in which Cincinnati sent catcher Bob Schmidt and pitcher Dave Stenhouse to the Senators in return for outfielder Marty Keough and another player.

Pocono Trips Nesquehoning 71-69 For 6th Hoop Victory

NESQUEHONING — Pocono Mountain High posted its sixth basketball win Tuesday night with a 71-69 victory over Nesquehoning.

Coach Harry Werkheiser's Cardinals have lost only twice, dropping the opener to Southern Wayne and losing to Scranton Prep. The Cards avenged the Southern Wayne loss before the Christmas break.

Three Pocono players, Ed Luck, Norb Ryan and Pete Ask carried most of the win's scoring load.

Luck bagged nine field goals and three foul shots for 21 points. Norb Ryan had nine field goals and two free tosses for 19 points and Ask had seven fielders and two free throws for 16 points.

A. J. Bittner added eight points, John Ryan had five points and Ralph Dunlap contributed two points to complete the Pocono total.

Four Hit Doubles

Nesquehoning had four of its players in double figures, with Tom Ligenzas' 22 points the top mark. Bill Stenetski added 17. Henry Farnworth had 13 and Joe Malaska had 10.

Pocono trailed 18-16 at the end of the first period but outscored the Nesques 19-14 in the second period, to take a 35-32 halftime lead.

Nesquehoning took over again at the end of the third period and the lead switched back and forth in the final period before Pocono pulled it out.

Both clubs hit on 11 free throws. Pocono had 26 charity chances and Nesquehoning had 20 chances.

Pocono's next game is at home Friday night against Pleasant Valley.

Theater TV Group Loses Info Rights

NEW YORK (AP)—The state attorney general obtained a decree in Supreme Court Tuesday which prohibits Teleprompter Corp. from acquiring confidential information which might be helpful in submitting a low bid for rights to televise fights.

The decree supplements a judgment consented to by Teleprompter Corp. of February, 1960, and makes more specific the prohibitions contained in it.

It resulted from an inquiry conducted by Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz' office into negotiations for the ancillary—television, movies, radio — rights to the Miami Beach heavyweight title fight last March 13 between Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson. The attorney general said his investigation did not reveal any violation of the decree of Feb. 5, 1960, but he said he felt that the restraining clauses should be made more specific and the additional prohibitions added.

Big 2nd Period Leads To Victory

EAST STROUDSBURG High School snapped a three-game losing streak Tuesday night with a 72-41 victory on its home court against winless Pleasant Valley.

It was the second win in five games for the Cavaliers, who beat the Bears for their only other win. Pleasant Valley has lost eight in a row.

Pleasant Valley made a game of its for most of the first period but when East Stroudsburg went into an all-court press with a minute and a half left in the first quarter, the Bears buckled.

Pleasant Valley led several times in the first quarter but the leads were never more than two points and lasted only briefly.

It was a poorly played game through most of the second half, with both teams missing numerous easy scoring opportunities.

Novel Attack

Midway through the third period, Bear coach Bill Frear, with his team trailing by 25 points, unveiled a double-sleeper attack.

Frear used only three men on defense, with the two remaining players stationed under the East Stroudsburg basket. The idea was to get the rebound quickly and whip the ball to the two trailers for easy baskets. The plan worked on several occasions, but Pleasant Valley couldn't get enough rebounds to make it work consistently.

Every Cavalier except Clint Alden was in the scoring column, with Junior Jack Horn the high man with 17. But it was the Bears' Romasavage that was the top point producer of the game.

Scoring mainly on long jumpers, Romasavage dumped in eight field goals and added two free throws for 18 points. Don Rinker, with 10 points, was the only other Bear in double figures.

Romasavage was credited with the top play of the night. In the fourth period he raced toward the boards for a rebound but was still about 15 feet from the bucket when the ball bounded toward him. He out jumped a Cavalier and underhanded, tapped the ball through the hoop.

Early Points

George Hack, who along with Van Horn did most of the early Cavalier scoring, wound up with 13 points and Earl Palmer collected 12. It was Palmer's best night in the score book. Senior Glenn Kane added 10.

It was a 26-point second period that pushed East Stroudsburg well ahead. By the end of the half, the Cavaliers led 41-17 and it was the press that did the damage. As long as East Stroudsburg led the Bears bring the ball down court and set up a pattern, Pleasant Valley was in contention. But the pressure of the press forced the Bears into numerous mistakes and in the final minute of the first period and the opening minute of the second period, East Stroudsburg outscored the visitors 8-2.

With seven minutes still left in the second quarter, East Stroudsburg had a 10-point lead 19-9 and five and a half minutes later it was a 20 point spread, as the press paid off again and again.

East Stroudsburg won the early varsity game 59-45. Doug Hilyard had 16 points and Bill Reese 10 for the losers, while Lambert Murphy had 13 and Ken Bowman 12 for Pleasant Valley.

'Fat Cats' Seen Affected By Tax

(Third in a four-part series. This article deals with investment income tax.)

HARRISBURG (AP)—Statistics don't bear out the assertion heard in the legislature that only "fat cats" would be affected by an investment income tax.

Figures compiled by the New York Stock Exchange show that as individuals, more people with modest incomes own common stocks than do the fabulously wealthy.

The subject was topical during the 1961 session of the legislature, which studied a proposed 2 percent tax on investment income. It missed passing by one vote.

Despite the close margin of defeat, business sources doubt it would be revived again in January as a possible revenue source. As it originally appeared in the 1961 session, the legislation would have imposed the 2 percent levy on incomes from rents, royalties, interest, capital gains and dividends.

During the weeks of legislative give-and-take, rents and interest were eliminated, to make the measure more politically palatable. Even so, it was defeated in the House on the first time around 78-124.

Kept Alive
Using a favorite parliamentary gimmick of "reconsidering the vote," the Democratic leadership kept the legislation alive and on a final vote taken Aug. 23, just one week before adjournment, the House passed it 107-96.

The thin-margin defeat in the Senate, which kept the new tax from becoming law by a single vote, 25-24, came on Aug. 30, the day before final adjournment of the session.

Much of the argument in the House revolved around the need for the $23 million to be raised.

Debate on the merits of the tax took place in the Senate. The premise of the Democratic protagonists was that the tax burden would be felt by those best able to afford it. The Republican opposition hinged on the contention that the tax was discriminatory, that it would affect only the thrifty.

A census of shareholders was conducted in 1960 by the New York Stock Exchange. Generally speaking, it showed that people of all ages, educational background, and annual incomes—from less than $3,000 to $25,000 and over—own common stocks.

Less Than $3,000
Of the 12,490,000 total shareholders turned up by the census, the exchange said 9 per cent had incomes in 1958 of less than $3,000. The national ratios were presumed to have general application in Pennsylvania, where 1,024,000 shareholders gave it third rank among the states, behind New York and California. This state was in fourth place in the exchange's 1956 census.

The breakdown of shareholders in Pennsylvania's largest cities as reported by the New York Stock Exchange:

Allentown 8,000; Erie 21,000; Philadelphia 169,000; Pittsburgh 114,000; Reading 8,000; and Scranton 10,000.

The occupational characteristics of stockholders as developed by the census showed that housewives and nonemployed adult females represented 33.1 per cent of the over-all total.

IRS Sets Up Average Sales Tax Table

THE INTERNAL Revenue Service has prepared a table showing the "average" annual sales tax payments for Pennsylvanians in income brackets up to $20,000.

The IRS said the amounts shown in the table are "allowable amounts in lieu of itemizing sales tax payments for income tax deductions."

Residents of other states will continue to itemize their sales tax expenditures in Pennsylvania. The table does not apply to out of state residents, an IRS spokesman said.

Taxpayers wishing to claim more than the "allowable" amount in the table may do so, but must itemize. The table does not apply to taxpayers claiming the standard 10 percent deduction by filing the short tax form.

The table:

Smith Plea Rejected By High Court

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The State Supreme Court Tuesday unanimously rejected a plea by Elmo Smith, sex-slayer of a school girl, to save him from Pennsylvania's electric chair.

Smith, 40-year-old Bridgeport handyman who admitted the brutal murder of Maryann Mitchell, 16, sought to have the penalty reduced to life imprisonment.

Maryann was seized by Smith as she stood on a Philadelphia street three days after Christmas, 1959. She was waiting for a bus after attending a movie with girlfriends.

Chief Justice John C. Bell rejected Smith's appeal as he described the crime as "an atrocious, brutal, inhuman rape and murder."

"This defendant makes an unusual although not a novel contention," wrote Bell, "namely the jury's verdict was an abuse of discretion in the light of his (sexual and psychopathic) defects and his criminal record. There is no merit in this contention."

Bell said the state's highest tribunal has made it clear again and again, in reviewing cases, that it cannot alter or reduce the verdict of a jury.

He called Smith "a dangerous potential murderer with a lust for rape and with the brutal instincts and actions of a cave man (who) had been out on parole only four months when he fractured Maryann's skull, raped and brutally disfigured her."

Record $486 Million For Education

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence proposed Tuesday a record $486 million budget for education in the 1962-63 fiscal year. It has a built-in potential for controversy.

The basic school subsidy would be raised from $272.3 million to $274 million—about a half of one per cent.

Despite a movement of the crest of post-war children into the more expensive secondary education levels, the administration said the comparatively modest boost would meet the costs. The reason, it said, is that improved economic conditions at local levels will mean more local revenue from real estate sources.

House Republicans already have indicated they will seek boosted state school subsidies. But David R. Baldwin, budget secretary, said any tampering with the subsidy program would be "disastrous."

Another lively issue is anticipated in the amount of state aid to colleges and universities.

This will revolve around the Big-Four—the Pennsylvania State University, Temple University and the universities of Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania — and the 14 state-owned colleges.

While Penn State was recommended for a 16.6 per cent increase and Pitt and Penn for 15 per cent increases, Lawrence proposed a 74 per cent raise for Temple. The state-owned colleges are to get a nine per cent increase.

The Temple boost is part of a plan to change its status from a completely private institution to one under partial state control, similar to Penn State.

The total appropriation for state aided colleges is to be raised some $4.2 million in 1962-63. Of this extra money, Temple would get $1.8 million, Penn State, $1.5 million, Penn about $223,000 and Pitt some $186,000.

Drexel Institute of Philadelphia—which was added to the state-aided list in 1959—would get an extra $345,000 in the new budget plus a new, $100,000 appropriation for its library school.

The state colleges are to get approximately $3 million more from the state.

The total appropriations recommended for the major private institutions in the 1962-63 budget are: Penn State, $20 million; Temple, $4.2 million; Penn, $3.7 million; Pitt, $3.1 million; state colleges, $15 million; Drexel would receive $850,000.
